Welcome to the Callan Method

Learning English with the Callan™ Method is fast and effective!

The Callan Method is a teaching method created specifically to improve your English in an intensive atmosphere. The teacher is constantly asking questions, so you are hearing and using the language as much as possible. When you speak in the lesson, the teacher corrects your grammar and pronunciation mistakes, and you learn a lot from this correction.

The Callan Method teaches English vocabulary and grammar in a carefully programmed way, with systematic revision and reinforcement. In the lesson, there is a lot of speaking and listening practice, but there is also reading and writing so that you revise and consolidate what you have learned.

With the Callan Method, the teacher speaks quickly so that you learn to understand English when it is spoken at natural speed. This also means that everyone is concentrating hard all the time.

English in a quarter of the time

The Callan Method can teach English in a quarter of the time taken by any other method on the market. Instead of the usual 350 hours necessary to get the average student to the level of the Cambridge Preliminary English Test (PET), the Callan Method can take as little as 80 hours, and only 160 hours for the Cambridge First Certificate in English (FCE).

The method is suitable for students of all nationalities, and ages. It requires no equipment (not even a whiteboard) or other books, and can be used for classes at private schools, state schools and universities. It is also possible for students to use the books to practise with each other when they are not at school.

In addition to this, students can practise their English online using the interactive exercises, which are available to students who study at licensed schools. Ask your school for details.

The Callan Method in practice

A Callan Method English lesson is probably very different from lessons you have done in the past. You do not sit in silence, doing a reading comprehension test or a grammar exercise from a book. You do not have 'free conversation', where you only use the English you already feel comfortable with. Of course, activities like this can help you, but you can do them at home with a book, or in a coffee bar. In a Callan Method lesson, you are busy with important activities that you cannot do outside the classroom. You are listening to English all the time. You are speaking English a lot, and all your mistakes are corrected. You learn quickly because you are always surrounded by English. There is no silence and no time to get bored or lose your concentration. And it is also fun!

So, what exactly happens in a Callan Method lesson, and how does it work?

The teacher asks you questions

The Callan Method books are full of questions. Each question practises a word, an expression, or a piece of grammar. The teacher is standing, and asks the questions to the students one by one. You never know when the teacher will ask you, so you are always concentrating. When one student finishes answering one question, the teacher immediately starts to ask the next question.

The teacher speaks quickly

The teacher in a Callan Method lesson speaks quickly. This is because, in the real world, it is natural to speak quickly. If you want to understand normal English, you must practise listening to quick natural speech and become able to understand English without first translating into your language. This idea of not translating is at the centre of the Callan Method; this method helps you to start thinking in English.

Also, we do not want you to stop and think a lot about the grammar while you are speaking. We want you to speak as a reflex, instinctively. And do not worry about mistakes. You will, naturally, make a lot of mistakes in the lessons, but Callan Method teachers correct your mistakes, and you learn from the corrections. When you go home, of course it will help if you read your book, think about the grammar, study the vocabulary, and do all the things that language students do at home – but the lessons are times to practise your listening and speaking, with your books closed!

The teacher says every question twice, and helps you with the answer

In the lesson, the teacher speaks quickly, so we say the questions twice. This way, you have another chance to listen if you did not understand everything the first time.

The teacher then immediately says the beginning of the answer. This is to help you (and 'push' you) to start speaking immediately. So, for example:

Teacher: "Are there two chairs in this room? Are there two chairs in this room? No, there aren't ..."

Student (immediately): "No, there aren't two chairs in this room; there are twelve chairs in this room."

If the teacher does not 'push' you by giving you the beginning of the answer, you might start to think too much, and translate into your language.

The teacher will speak along with you all the time while you are saying your answer. So, if you forget a word or you are not sure what to say, you will always hear the next word or two from the teacher. You should repeat after the teacher, but immediately try again to continue with the answer yourself. You must always try to continue speaking, and only copy the teacher when you cannot continue alone. That way, you will become more confident and learn more quickly. Never simply wait for help from the teacher and then copy – you will not improve so quickly.

Long answers, with the same grammar as the question

We want you to practise your speaking as much as possible, so you always make complete sentences when you speak in the lesson, using the same grammatical structure as in the question. For example:

Teacher: "About how many pages are there in this book?"

Student: "There are about two hundred pages in that book."

In this way, you are not just answering a question; you are making full sentences with the vocabulary and the grammar that you need to learn.

Correction by imitation

With the Callan Method, the teacher corrects all your mistakes the moment you make them. The teacher corrects you by imitating (copying) your mistake and then saying the correct pronunciation/form of the word. For example, if you say "He come from Spain", the teacher quickly says "not come - comes". This correction by imitation helps you to hear the difference between your mistake and the proper English form. You should immediately repeat the correct word and continue with your sentence. You learn a lot from this correction of your mistakes, and constant correction results in fast progress.

Contracted forms

In the lesson, the teacher uses contractions (e.g. the teacher says "I don't" instead of "I do not"). This is because it is natural to use contractions in spoken English and you must learn to understand them. Also, if you want to sound natural when you speak, you must learn to use contractions.

Lesson structure

Every school is different, but a typical 50-minute Callan lesson will contain about 35 minutes of speaking, a 10-minute period for reading, and a 5-minute dictation. The reading practice and the dictation are often in the middle of the lesson.

In the reading part, you read and speak while the teacher helps you and corrects your mistakes. In the dictation, you practise your writing, but you are also listening to the teacher. So, a 50-minute Callan lesson is 50 minutes of spoken English with no silence!

No chatting

Although the Callan Method emphasises the importance of speaking practice, this does not mean chatting (free conversation). You learn English quickly with the Callan Method partly because the lessons are organised, efficient, fast and busy. There is no time wasted on chatting; this can be done before or after the lesson.

Chatting is not a good way to spend your time in an English lesson. First, only some of the students speak. Second, in a chat, people only use the English that they already know. Third, it is difficult for a teacher to correct mistakes during a conversation.

The Callan Method has none of these problems. All through the lesson, every student is listening and speaking, practising different vocabulary and structures, and learning from the correction of their mistakes. And nobody has time to get bored!

Repeat, repeat, repeat!

Systematic revision

In your native language, you sometimes read or hear a word that you do not already know. You usually need to read or hear this new word only once or twice in order to remember it and then use it yourself. However, when you are learning a foreign language, things are very different. You need to hear, see and use words and grammatical structures many times before you really know them properly. So your studies must involve a system of revision (repeating what you have studied before). This is absolutely essential. If there is no system of revision in your studies, you will forget what you have studied and will not be able to speak or understand better than before.

In every Callan Method lesson, of course you learn new English, practise it, and progress through your book. However, you also do a lot of revision so that you can really learn what you have studied. Your teacher can decide how much revision your class needs, but it will always be an important part of your studies.

Also, because there is a lot of revision, it is not important for you to understand everything the first time; it gets easier. The revision with Callan is automatic and systematic. Every day you do a lot of revision and then learn some new English.

Revision in reading and dictation too

The reading and dictation practice in the lessons is part of Callan's systematic revision as well. First, you learn a new word in the speaking part of the lesson; a few lessons later, you meet it again when you are reading; finally, the word appears in a dictation. This is all written into the Callan Method; it happens automatically.

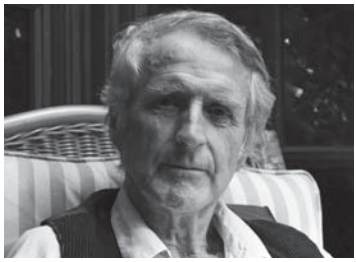

Correcting your dictations

With the Callan Method, there is little or no homework to do, but it is very important that you correct your dictations. These are printed in your book and so you can easily correct them at home, on the bus, or wherever. It is important to do this because it helps you to learn the written forms of the words you have already studied in earlier lessons.

Your first lessons with the Callan Method

During your first lesson with the Callan Method, all of the questions and some of the vocabulary are new for you; you have not done any revision yet. For this reason, the teacher may not ask you many questions. You can sit and listen, and become more familiar with the method - the speed, the questions, the correction etc.

History of the Callan Method – Robin Callan

Robin Callan is the creator of the Callan Method. He owns the Callan School in London's Oxford Street. He also runs Callan Publishing Limited, which supplies Callan Method books to schools all over the world.

Robin Callan grew up in Ely, Cambridgeshire, England. In his early twenties, he went to Italy to teach English in Salerno. Although he enjoyed teaching, Robin thought that the way in which teachers were expected to teach their lessons was inefficient and boring. He became very interested in the mechanisms of language learning, and was sure that he could radically improve the way English was taught.

He remained in Italy and started to write his own books for teaching English. He used these in his own classes and, over the following ten years, gained an immense amount of practical experience and a reputation for teaching English quickly and effectively.

When he returned to England, he opened his school in Oxford Street. As the method became more and more popular with students, the school grew and moved to larger premises. Robin continued to write his Callan Method books, and today the method is used by schools all over the world.

Robin Callan has always been passionate about English literature, especially poetry. For this reason, he bought The Orchard Tea Garden in Grantchester, near Cambridge, which attracts thousands of tourists each year. Throughout the 20th century, it was a popular meeting place for many famous Cambridge University students and important figures from English literature, such as Rupert Brooke, Virginia Woolf and E.M. Forster. Today, it is also home to the Rupert Brooke Museum.

Mr Callan now lives in Grantchester, but still plays an active role in the management of the Callan School in London.

The Callan School in London's Oxford Street

The largest private school in London

The Callan School in Oxford Street is the largest private school in London teaching English as a foreign language. Depending on the time of year, the school employs between 60 and 100 teachers and has an average of 1600 students passing through its doors every day. This number rises to more than 2000 in the middle of summer, similar to a small university.

How Callan Method Stages compare to CEFR* levels and University of Cambridge General English exams

 Common European Framework of Reference*

It is difficult to compare the Callan Method books directly with the CEFR levels and Cambridge exams, but below is an approximate guide.

STAGE 6

LESSON 78

415 situation

What would you do if you saw someone taking something from a shop without paying?
If I saw ..., I'd ...

What do people normally do in situations like that?
People normally ... in situations like that

Do police officers often find themselves in dangerous situations?
Yes, police officers ...

suppose thirst

What do you suppose'd happen if there were suddenly no water in the world?
I suppose we'd all die of thirst if there ...

If you only slept two hours tonight, how do you suppose you'd feel tomorrow morning?
If I only ..., I suppose I'd feel very tired tomorrow morning

The word "supposing" can be used in a similar way to "if" when we want someone to imagine a particular situation. Therefore, we often use it in conditional sentences and say, for example, "Supposing you had no money, what would you do?"

Supposing today were Sunday, where'd you be now?
Supposing today were Sunday, I'd be ...

Supposing you lost your passport, what would you do?
Supposing I lost my passport, I'd immediately tell the police

416 hotter and hotter more and more

Does it get hotter and hotter as we go towards the north of Europe?
No, it doesn't get ...; it gets colder and colder

Do people usually become richer and richer as they become older?
Yes, people usually become ...

Why?
Because they usually earn more and more money

Does good wine usually become cheaper and cheaper as it becomes older? No, good wine doesn't ... ; it usually becomes more and more expensive ready marriage

How long does it take you to get ready to go out in the morning?
It takes me about ... to get ready to ...

When do you think you'll be ready to take the exam at the end of this book? I think I'll be ready ... in about ... weeks' time

Are you always ready to lend people money? Yes, I'm always ... ~ No, I'm not always ...

Do you think most people are ready for marriage when they are eighteen years old? Yes, I think ... ~ No, I don't think ...

whereabouts

If the government of your country decided to build a new national sports stadium, whereabouts do you think it should be? If the government of my country ..., I think ...

417 describe description just

Describe someone you know, please (one of your family or friends).
I'll describe (my uncle: he's tall and thin; he has black hair etc.)

Describe the place where you live. The place where I live is (by the sea; it's quite large; there are some factories just outside it etc.)

What's he doing? He's describing the place where he lives

Do you think it's a good enough description? Yes, I think it's ... ~ No, I don't think it's ...

correct incorrect

Is it correct to say "The book was writing by him"? No, it isn't ...; we must say "The book was written by him"

Is it correct that 4 + 5 = 11? No, it isn't ...; it's incorrect

as soon as over

What did you do as soon as you came into the classroom? I sat down as soon as I ...

What'll you do as soon as the lesson is over? I'll stand up, go home etc. as soon as ...

418 When you lend something, like money for example, do you prefer the other person to give it back on a certain date or just as soon as possible?
When I lend something ..., I prefer ...

strange

Who's the strangest person you know? The strangest person I know is ...

they = he or she

We sometimes use the words "they", "them" etc. to talk about just one person when we don't know if the person is a man or woman. For example, "There is somebody in the next room and they are making a lot of noise. I'm going to ask them to be quieter".

When do we use the words "they", "them" etc. to talk about just one person?
We use the words "they", "them" etc. ... when we don't know if the person is a man or woman

If someone lost their passport, what advice would you give them?
If someone lost their passport, I'd tell them that they should immediately go to the police shut shut up be quiet

The verb "to shut up" means the same as "to be quiet" but is much less polite, and we generally use it when we are angry.

What verb can we use instead of the verb "to close"? We can use the verb "to shut" instead of ...

If some friends were talking loudly while you were trying to study, what would you say?

If some ... while I was trying to study, I'd say "Could you be quiet, please?"

419 And if they carried on talking loudly even after that, what might you then say?

If they ..., I might then say "Shut up!"

choose

Do you always choose your clothes yourself or does someone else ever help you to choose them?

Yes, I always choose my clothes myself ~ No, I don't always choose ... myself; sometimes someone helps me ...

If you had to choose between having £10,000 now or £40,000 in ten years' time, which'd you choose?

If I had to choose between having ..., I'd choose ...

Why?

Dictation 49

To cross the road/ without looking both ways/ would be very dangerous./ When we say/ we should study,/ it means that we have an alternative,/ but that studying/ is the right thing to do;/ it is the best idea./ Although there were no bones/ in the meat,/ it had been cooked/ so badly/ that it was impossible to eat./ English has its origins/ in several other languages./ The war was directly caused/ by the actions of the president.

Do Revision Exercise 32

LESSON 79

420 recognize

Do you think you'd be able to recognize me if we met each other again in thirty years' time?
Yes, I think I'd be able to recognize you if ... ~ No, I don't think I'd be able to recognize you if ...

Would you say you were good at recognizing people after not having seen them for several years?
Yes, I'd say I was good at ... ~ No, I wouldn't say I was good at ...

rather

Would you say you spoke English rather well now?
Yes, I'd say I spoke ...

would rather

"Would rather" means the same as "would prefer". The difference is that we put the infinitive without "to" after "would rather", whereas we put the infinitive with "to" after "would prefer".

What can we say instead of "I would prefer to drink tea"?
We can say "I would rather drink tea" instead of "I would prefer to drink tea"

Would you rather have a cold drink than a hot drink at the moment?
Yes, I'd rather have ... ~ No, I wouldn't rather have ...

Which would you rather do this evening: read a book, watch television, or go to the cinema?
I'd rather ... than ...

421 Would you rather go on a long flight or a long train journey?
I'd rather ... than ...

faith — Christian

Do you have very much faith in your government? — Yes, I have a lot of faith in my government ~ No, I don't have very much faith in my government

About how old is the Christian faith? — The Christian faith is about two thousand years old

"Will" and "to be going to"

predict — prediction

just this moment

Two common ways to talk about the future are:

I will go to London tomorrow (future simple)

I am going to go to London tomorrow ("to be going to")

These different forms communicate different ideas.

One common use of the future simple is to communicate that we have just this moment decided to do something. For example, if I say "It's getting cold; I'll close the window", I am communicating that I have just this moment decided to close the window.

We can also use the future simple to make a prediction. For example, if I say to a friend "Don't worry about your exam tomorrow; I'm sure it will be easy", I am making a prediction that the exam will be easy.

422 Tell me one common use of the future simple, please.

One common use of the future simple is to communicate that we have just this moment decided to do something

Give me an example, please. — Sorry I forgot to bring the money for you; I'll bring it tomorrow, I promise!

Tell me another common use of the future simple, please.

Another common use of the future simple is to make a prediction

Give me an example, please. I can't remember what she looks like but I'm sure I'll recognize her when I see her

"To be going to" can also be used to make a prediction, but a prediction using information we already have. For example, if I say "Oh, look at the sky; I think it's going to rain", I am predicting rain because I can see that the sky is dark and cloudy now.

Another common use of "to be going to" is to communicate a future intention; something that we have already decided to do. For example, if I say "I'm going to buy a new car", I am communicating that I have already decided to buy a new car; it is my intention to buy one.

Tell me one common use of "to be going to", please. One common use of "to be going to" is to make a prediction using information we already have

Give me an example, please. Be careful; that wine glass is going to fall off the table!

Tell me another common use of "to be going to", please. Another common use of "to be going to" is to communicate a future intention; something that we have already decided to do

Give me an example, please. I'm going to go to the cinema next Saturday

423 To communicate your future intentions, it is important to remember to use "to be going to", not the future simple. If you decide to watch a film tonight, and then later you tell a friend what you have decided to do, you should say "I'm going to watch a film tonight". It is wrong in this situation to say "I will watch a film tonight". This is a very common mistake.

Tell me what you have decided to do this afternoon (or this evening), please. This afternoon (or this evening), I'm going to visit a friend etc.

stairs	upstairs	downstairs
living room	lift

In a house, are the bedrooms usually downstairs? No, in a house ...; they're usually upstairs

And is the living room usually upstairs? No, the living room ...; it's usually downstairs

If you had to get to a room that was on the tenth floor of a building, would you take the stairs or the lift? If I had to ..., I'd take the lift lip lipstick

Is this my top lip? No, it isn't your top lip; it's your bottom lip

Do you think women look better with or without lipstick? I think women look ...

system

What system of government do you have in your country?
We have a ... system of government in my country

sail sailor

Is sailing a popular sport in your country? Yes, sailing's ... in my country ~ No, sailing isn't ... in my country

Would you like to be a sailor? Yes, I'd like to ... ~ No, I wouldn't like to ...

Dictation 50

I do not get up/ immediately after I wake up,/ but I lie in bed/ for a few minutes./ We sometimes/ go through the summer/ without going for a swim./ There is no comparison/ between the prices on the website/ and those in the shop./ The fridge he bought/ from the shop on the corner/ was faulty./ It made him angry/ and he took a long time/ to calm down./ That guard dog/ is much too dangerous/ to keep in the house.

LESSON 80

425 Emphatic "do" deny exclamation stress

I do speak English! I do like this book!

As you already know, we use the auxiliary verb "do" for the present simple, but only in questions and negative sentences; it is not used in the positive. For example, we say "Do you speak English?" and "I do not speak English", but we say "I speak English", with no auxiliary "do".

However, when we want to be emphatic about something, we can also use "do" in a positive sentence. For example, if someone says to you "You don't speak English", you can reply "Yes I do speak English!" In situations like this, we put a heavy stress on the word "do".

When do we use the auxiliary verb "do" in a positive sentence with the present simple tense?

We use the ... when we want to be emphatic

We usually use the emphatic "do" when we want to deny something that someone has said because we know it is not true. For example, if someone says to you "You don't eat healthy food", you can deny this strongly by saying "Yes I do eat healthy food!"

When do we usually use the emphatic "do"?

We usually use ... when we want to deny something that someone has said because we know it is not true

Give me an example, please.

For example, if somebody says "You don't eat enough vegetables", I can reply "Yes I do eat enough vegetables!"

426 Reply to this sentence using the emphatic form, please: you don't know what I've got in my pocket.

Yes I do know what you've got in your pocket!

Another use of the emphatic "do" is in an exclamation. For example, "I do like this book!" and "He does speak good English!"

Tell me another use of the emphatic "do", please. — Another use use ... is in an exclamation

Give me an example, please. — I do hate noisy children! She does write beautifully!

Of course, we can use the emphatic "do" with the past simple too. For example, "I did study hard last year!" and "I did like that book you gave me!"

Reply to this sentence using the emphatic form in the past, please: He didn't cycle home yesterday. — Yes he did cycle home yesterday!

Remember that we only use the emphatic "do" with the present and past simple. With other tenses, we just stress the first auxiliary verb, or the negative word in the verb. For example, "Yes I can speak English well!" and "No I won't make a mistake!"

Reply to these sentences using emphatic forms, please:

You can't read quickly. — Yes I can read quickly!

The weather's been good. — No the weather has not been good!

She doesn't love her family. — Yes she does love her family!

He came to school early. — No he didn't come to school early!

We shouldn't tell him the news. — Yes we should tell him the news!

427 hit arrest

What am I doing? — You're hitting the table with your hand

Have you ever hit your head getting into a car? — Yes, I've hit my head ... ~ No, I've never hit my head ...

What'd happen if you hit a policeman? — If I hit a policeman, he'd arrest me

Have you ever seen anyone arrested? — Yes, I've seen someone arrested ~ No, I've never seen anyone arrested fair fairly just moderate unfair

The word "fair" has five different meanings, which are as follows: _____ (fair hair), _____ (industrial and agricultural fairs, for example), _____ (just), _____ (moderate), and _____ (fun fair).

What are the five meanings of the word "fair"? The five meanings of the word "fair" are ...

Do people become darker and darker in hair colour as we go towards the north of Europe? No, people don't ...; they become fairer and fairer 428 Have you ever been to an industrial or agricultural fair? Yes, I've been to ... ~ No, I've never been to ...

What kind?

If I asked everyone in this room twenty questions but only asked you two, would that be fair? No, if you asked ... but only asked me two, it wouldn't be fair; it'd be unfair

Do they ever have a funfair in this town? Yes, they sometimes have ... ~ No, they never have ...

Do you speak English fairly well now? Yes, I speak English fairly well now pleasure

Is it a great pleasure for you to get up in the morning?
Yes, it's a great pleasure for me ... ~ No, it isn't a great pleasure for me ...

Why or why not? Because I find my work interesting ~ Because, when I get up, it's often cold

Do you think it's possible for life to be full of pleasure all the time?
Yes, I think ... ~ No, I don't think ...

experiment

Do you think it's wrong to use animals for experiments?

Yes, I think it's ... ~ No, I don't think it's ...

429 ## discover

When was America discovered by Europeans, and who discovered it?

America was discovered by Europeans in 1492 by Christopher Columbus, or by Leif Ericsson about the year 1000

Is the internet useful for discovering new information?

Yes, the internet ...

How much would your loss be? My loss'd be £750,000

Future perfect I will have eaten

We use the future perfect when we are thinking about time before and up to a specific point in the future. For example, if you know that you will be in bed at midnight tonight, you can tell a friend "Please don't phone me at midnight; I will have gone to bed". This communicates that you will go to bed before midnight and that, at midnight, you will be in bed, probably sleeping.

When do we use the future perfect? We use the future perfect when we are thinking about time before and up to a specific point in the future

Give me an example, please

When you arrive at my house, I will have cooked dinner

What does that sentence mean?

That sentence means that I will finish cooking dinner before you arrive at my house; when you arrive, dinner will be ready

433 Tell me the difference between these two sentences:

Give me an example, please. I'm enjoying my new job; so far, so good!

Do Revision Exercise 34

LESSON 83

440 Short answers with auxiliary verbs

Yes, I can	Yes, I would	Yes, I am
Yes, I have	Yes, I do

We can give short answers to questions simply by using an auxiliary verb.

For example:	"Can you speak Spanish?"	"Yes, I can."
	"Have you seen David?"	"No, I haven't."
	"Will she be working?"	"Yes, she will."

Notice that only the first auxiliary verb is necessary. Instead of "Yes, she will be", we can just say "Yes, she will".

Answer the following questions with short answers:

Will we still be here in two minutes' time? Yes, we will

Would you need any money if you went to the cinema and had a free ticket? No, I wouldn't

Can you swim? Yes, I can ~ No, I can't Should you be very careful when you cross the road? Yes, you should

Could you read when you were three years old? Yes, I could ~ No, I couldn't 441 We can also make short answers with the verbs "be" and "have".

For example:	"Are you a student?"	"Yes, I am."
	"Has he got the money?"	"Yes, he has."

Am I the teacher? Yes, you are

Have you got any shoes on your feet? Yes, I have

For short answers with the present simple and past simple, we use the auxiliary "do".

For example:	"Does he eat meat?"	"Yes, he does."
	"Did they finish the job?"	"No, they didn't."

Do you like this part of the country? Yes, I do ~ No, I don't

446 Direct speech and indirect speech

report refer inverted commas

Direct speech: I said "The room is large"

Indirect speech: I said that the room was large

There are two ways in which we can repeat what someone has said. We can use direct speech, and give the exact words of the speaker, like this:

Mr Brown said "I like warm weather".

We can also use indirect speech, and report what Mr Brown said, like this:

Mr Brown said that he liked warm weather.

Notice that indirect speech is also called reported speech.

What are the two ways in which we can repeat what someone has said?

The two ways ... are by giving the exact words of the speaker, or by reporting what the speaker said

What do we call these two ways?

We call these two ways direct speech and indirect speech

Give me an example of direct speech, please.

Mr Brown said "I like warm weather"

Give me an example of indirect speech, please.

Mr Brown said that he liked warm weather

447 When we change direct speech into indirect speech, we generally move the verb into the past, or further into the past. For example, we change present tenses into past tenses.

For example:	(Direct speech)	The teacher said "The room is large".
	(Indirect speech)	The teacher said that the room was large.
	(Direct speech)	The teacher said "I have drunk the coffee".
	(Indirect speech)	The teacher said that he had drunk the coffee.

If a verb is already in the past, it often remains unchanged. However, sometimes we put it further into the past so the exact meaning is easier to understand. Think about this sentence:

Mary said that she went to the cinema.

Here, we don't know whether Mary said "I go to the cinema" or "I went to the cinema". In other words, we don't know if she was speaking about a habit in the present or a single visit in the past. However, we could say this instead:

Mary said that she had been to the cinema.

Now it becomes clearer that she was speaking about a single visit in the past.

What do we do with the tenses when we change direct speech into indirect speech? — When we change ..., we generally move the verb into the past

Give me an example. — The teacher said "The room is large". The teacher said that the room was large.

What do we do if a verb is already in the past? — If a verb ..., it often remains unchanged, but sometimes we put it further into the past

448 In indirect speech, the word "will" changes to "would". We use "would" when we are speaking about the past but want to refer to a future action.

For example:	(Direct speech)	Mary said "John will go to London".
	(Indirect speech)	Mary said that John would go to London.

You are reporting what Mary said in the past, but the word "would" refers to a future action.

What do we do with the word "will" when we change direct speech into indirect speech? When we change ..., we change the word "will" to "would"

Give me an example, please. She said that John would go to London next year Right. I will now make some statements and I want you to tell me what I said, using indirect speech.

"I swim every day" – What did I say? You said that you swam every day

"She is speaking to you" – What did I say? You said that she was speaking to me

"I have just taken the pen from the table" – What did I say? You said that you had just taken the pen from the table

"I think I will go to London tomorrow" – What did I say? You said that you thought you would go to London tomorrow

"They had books in their hands when they came into the room" – What did I say? You said that they had books in their hands when they came into the room

"I ate too much for dinner" – What did I say? You said you had eaten too much for dinner

449 Notice that words like "I", "you", "my", "your" etc. sometimes need to change when direct speech becomes indirect speech.

Notice also that for indirect speech we do not use inverted commas, and it is not generally necessary to use the word "that" to connect the two parts of the sentence.

Do we use inverted commas for indirect speech? No, we don't use ...

Is it generally necessary to use the word "that" when we use indirect speech? No, it isn't ...

Give me an example, please. He said that the room was large ~ He said the room was large

4) Why don't we wait for him?

The imperative order

When we want to say something stronger than just a suggestion, or even order someone to do something, we use the imperative. In English, the imperative is very easy; we just use the infinitive without "to". For example, we say "Go away!" For a negative imperative, we put the word "don't" before the infinitive. For example, we say "Don't go away!"

How do we make the imperative in English?

We make the imperative in English by using the infinitive without "to"

LESSON 88

468 Perfect continuous

Present participle if ... then ...

We form the perfect continuous tenses by using the verb "have", the word "been" and the present participle of the main verb.

Present perfect continuous:	I have been working
Past perfect continuous:	I had been working
Future perfect continuous:	I will have been working

How do we form the perfect continuous tenses? — We form ... by using the verb "have", the word "been", and the present participle of the main verb

Give me an example, please. — I have been studying for two hours

We use the present perfect continuous to say how long an action has been in progress so far. We are "measuring" the duration of the action up to now. For example, if you arrive at work at 9 a.m., then at 10 a.m. you can say "I have been working for one hour so far"; later, at 11 a.m., you can say "I have been working for two hours so far".

When do we use the present perfect continuous? — We use the present perfect continuous to say how long an action has been in progress so far

Give me an example, please. — I have been living in this house for six months so far 469 We use the past perfect continuous to communicate the duration of an action up to a particular point in the past. We are "measuring" how long the action had already been in progress at that point. For example, the sentence "I had been cooking for twenty minutes when she arrived" means that I started cooking and then twenty minutes later she arrived.

When do we use the past perfect continuous? We use the past perfect continuous to communicate the duration of an action up to a particular point in the past

Give me an example, please. I had been living in this house for one month when I bought my new bed

We use the future perfect continuous to communicate the duration of an action up to a particular point in the future. For example, "At the end of this lesson, we will have been studying for ... minutes".

When do we use the future perfect continuous? We use the future perfect continuous to communicate the duration of an action up to a particular point in the future

Give me an example, please. I will have been living in this house for eight months at the end of this year

How long had you been sitting in this room for when I came in? I had been sitting in this room for ... when you came in Since when have you been studying English? I've been studying English since ...

How long will you have been living in this place for when this year (or season) ends? I'll have been living in this place for ... when this year (or season) ends

Since when? Since ...

Tail questions tail confirm

If somebody arrives home from work and they look very tired, instead of asking them "Are you feeling tired?", we could say "You're feeling tired, aren't you?" Here, we are using a tail question. We usually use a tail question when we believe something is true, and we want somebody to confirm that we are right.

When do we use a tail question?

We use a tail question when we believe something is true, and we want somebody to confirm that we are right

With this kind of question, we first say what we believe is true (for example, "You're feeling tired") and then we put the tail question at the end (for example, "aren't you?"). We form the tail question by repeating the first auxiliary verb from the main part of the sentence, and putting it in question form.

How do we form a tail question?

We form a tail question by repeating the first auxiliary verb from the main part of the sentence, and putting it in question form

Give me an example, please.

He is going to go out tonight, isn't he?

475 If the main part of the sentence is positive, the tail question is negative. If the main part of the sentence is negative, the tail question is positive.

For example: "You're Mr Brown, aren't you?"

"You aren't Mr Brown, are you?"

Right, now I will say something and I want you to repeat it and add a tail question. Remember that, if the main part of the sentence is positive, the tail question is negative, and vice versa.

He's a young man.	He's a young man, isn't he?
He isn't a young man.	He isn't a young man, is he?

He won't be afraid.	He won't be afraid, will he?
They would be hungry.	They would be hungry, wouldn't they?
They wouldn't be hungry.	They wouldn't be hungry, would they?

When there is no auxiliary verb in the main part of the sentence, we use the auxiliary verb "do" in the tail question. For example, "You know how to cook, don't you?"

476 When there is no auxiliary verb in the main part of the sentence, which verb do we use in the tail question ?

When there is no ..., we use "do" in the tail question

Give me an example, please.

LESSON 92

489 ## The two types of auxiliary verb

primary modal

English has two basic types of auxiliary verb: primary auxiliaries and modal auxiliaries (or "modals").

What are the two basic types of auxiliary verb in English?

The two basic types of auxiliary verb in English are primary auxiliaries and modal auxiliaries

There are three primary auxiliaries: "be", "have" and "do". We use them to make basic verb structures.

What are the primary auxiliaries?

The primary auxiliaries are the verbs "be", "have" and "do"

We use the auxiliary "be" to make the continuous tenses, for example when we say "I am speaking English now". We also use it for the passive voice, for example when we say "This book was printed in England".

When do we use the auxiliary "be"?

We use the auxiliary "be" to make the continuous tenses and the passive voice

Give me an example, please.

I am speaking English now.
This book was printed in England.

We use the auxiliary "have" for the perfect tenses, for example when we say "He has gone to Scotland".

When do we use the auxiliary "have"?

We use the auxiliary "have" for the perfect tenses

490 Give me an example, please.

He has gone to Scotland

We use the auxiliary "do" for the present simple and past simple, for example when we say "I don't speak Spanish" or "Did she eat the pasta?"

When do we use the auxiliary "do"? We use the auxiliary "do" for the present simple and past simple

Give me an example, please. I don't speak Spanish. Did she eat the pasta?

There are ten common modals: "can", "could", "will", "would", "may", "might", "shall", "should", "must" and "ought". Modals normally express ideas about necessity or possibility.

What are the ten common modals? The ten common modals are "can", "could", "will", "would", "may", "might", "shall", "should", "must" and "ought"

What ideas do modals normally express? Modals normally express ideas about necessity or possibility

Now, I will give you a sentence, and you say a sentence with the same meaning, but with a modal:

John is able to speak French. John can speak French

Perhaps he works in a bank. He may (or might) work in a bank

It is necessary for me to go to bed now. I must go to bed now

You are not allowed to smoke in this building. You can't (or mustn't) smoke in this building

After a modal, we put the infinitive without "to". For example, we say "I must go", and not "I must to go". The only exception to this rule is "ought". We say, for example, "I should call my mum soon", but if we express the same idea with "ought", we say "I ought to call my mum soon".

What do we put after a modal? We put the infinitive without "to" after a modal

491 Give me an example, please. I must send this email today

Which modal is the only exception to this rule? "Ought" is the only exception to this rule

Give me an example, please. I ought to see a doctor

Do Revision Exercise 40

Grammar Questions

The following grammar questions are to be asked and revised in exactly the same way as any other questions in the Method. They act as a complete and rapid revision of all the grammar in Stages 5 and 6.

Stage 5

1) What's the difference between these two sentences: "I must study" and "I should study"?

The difference between those two sentences is that "I must study" means that I have no alternative, whereas "I should study" means I have alternatives but that studying is the right thing for me to do.

2) What can we use instead of "would be able" in conditional sentences? Give me an example.

We can use "could" instead of "would be able" in conditional sentences. For example, "If I was a bird, I could fly".

3) What's the difference between "still" and "yet"?

The difference between "still" and "yet" is that we use "still" for something that is in progress at the moment, whereas we use "yet" for something that has not begun or happened. We generally use "still" in positive sentences, whereas we generally use "yet" in questions and negative sentences.

4) What are the two ways of forming the 2nd conditional with the verb "to be"?

The two ways of forming the 2nd conditional with the verb "to be" are "if I was" and "if I were".

5) What's the difference between "for" and "since"? Give me some examples.

The difference between "for" and "since" is that we use the word "for" when we say a period of time, whereas we use the word "since" when we say the time at which a period began. For example, "for half an hour"; "for two weeks"; "since six o'clock"; "since last June".

6) When do we use the past continuous? Give me an example.

We use the past continuous for an action that was in progress at a particular time in the past. For example, "I was speaking English at this time yesterday".

7) What is the most common use of the past continuous? Give me an example. The most common use of the past continuous is to say that an action was in progress when another action happened. For example, "I was cooking lunch when she arrived".

8) What does the active voice communicate? The active voice communicates that the subject does the action.

9) What does the passive voice communicate? The passive voice communicates that the subject receives the action.

10) How do we form the passive voice? We form the passive voice with the verb "to be" and a past participle.

11) Change this sentence into the passive voice: "We are going to write the email". "The email is going to be written by us".

12) What are the two contracted forms of "you are not"? The two contracted forms of "you are not" are "you aren't" and "you're not".

13) What three things can the words "in spite of" and "despite" be followed by? Give me an example of each. "In spite of" and "despite" can be followed by a noun, or "-ing", or "the fact that ...". For example, "In spite of her illness, she went to work"; "Despite being ill, she went to work"; "In spite of the fact that she was ill, she went to work".

14) When do we use a reflexive pronoun? Give me an example. We use a reflexive pronoun when the subject and the object are the same person or thing. For example, "I looked at myself in the mirror".

15) What are the reflexive pronouns? The reflexive pronouns are "myself", "yourself", "himself", "herself", "itself", "oneself", "ourselves", "yourselves", and "themselves".

16) What is the most common way to communicate purpose in English? Give me an example. The most common way to communicate purpose in English is by using the infinitive with "to". For example, "I went to the hospital to see a doctor".

17) What's the difference between "to point at" and "to point out"?

The difference between "to point at" and "to point out" is that we use "to point at" for the action of pointing the finger at an object, whereas "to point out" means to indicate something among different things.

18) What do the words "may" and "might" express? The words "may" and "might" express the idea of "perhaps".

19) What's the difference between "may" and "might"?

The difference between "may" and "might" is that we cannot use "may" in the 2nd conditional.

20) What does it mean when we add the word "back" to a verb? Give me some examples. When we add the word "back" to a verb it means "to return". For example, "give back", "go back", "pay back" etc.

21) When do we use the past perfect? Give me an example.

We use the past perfect when we are thinking about time before and up to another point in the past. For example, "Mary could not enter her flat yesterday because she had lost her key".

22) Give me an example of the word "own" after a possessive adjective.

"This is my own book".

23) Where do the words "as well", "too" and "also" usually go?

The words "as well" and "too" go at the end of the sentence, but the word "also" usually goes after the first auxiliary verb.

24) Give me an example of "also" when there is no auxiliary verb.

I love coffee and I also love tea.

25) When do we use the future continuous? Give me an example.

We use the future continuous for an action that will be in progress at a particular time in the future. For example, "I will be working at this time tomorrow".

26) What's the difference between "allow" and "let"? Give me an example of each. The difference between "allow" and "let" is that "allow" has the infinitive with "to" after it, whereas "let" has the infinitive without "to" after it. For example, "The doctor allowed me to change my appointment" and "The doctor let me change my appointment".

27) What's the most common way to speak about our habits? Give me an example.

The most common way to speak about our habits is to use the present simple or past simple. For example, "I play football every weekend"; "I always studied hard before exams at university".

28) What's the difference between "travel" and "journey"?

The difference between "travel" and "journey" is that we generally use "travel" as a verb and "journey" as a noun.

29) What's the difference between the words "remember" and "remind"?

The difference between the words "remember" and "remind" is that we remember something ourselves, without help, whereas, if we forget something, somebody reminds us. In other words, they remember for us.

30) What's the difference between "to" and "at"? Give me an example of each.

The difference between "to" and "at" is that we generally use "to" when we are moving in the direction of something, or somewhere, and "at" when we are there. For example, "I'm going to the table. Now, I'm at the table".

31) When do we use the 3rd conditional? Give me an example.

We use the 3rd conditional when we are imagining something in the past that did not really happen. For example, "If I had not come to school last week, I would have stayed at home".

32) In the 3rd conditional, what do we put after the word "would"? Give me some examples.

In the 3rd conditional, we put the word "have" and the past participle after the word "would". For example, "he would have slept"; "she would have written"; "they would have eaten".

33) Give me an example of an adverb formed from an adjective.

An example of an adverb formed from an adjective is "badly".

34) How do we form the possessive case of a plural noun which already ends in "s"? Give me an example.

We form the possessive case of a plural noun which already ends in "s" just by adding an apostrophe, but no "s". For example, "The girls' coats".

Stage 6

35) When do we use the words "they", "them" etc. to talk about just one person? Give me an example.

We use the words "they", "them" etc. to talk about just one person when we don't know if the person is a man or woman. For example, "There is somebody at the door. Go and see what they want".

36) What's the grammatical difference between "would rather" and "would prefer"? Give me an example of each.

The grammatical difference between "would rather" and "would prefer" is that we put the infinitive without "to" after "would rather", whereas we put the infinitive with "to" after "would prefer". For example, "I would rather drink tea" and "I would prefer to drink tea".

37) What are two common uses of the future simple? Give me an example of each.

Two common uses of the future simple are to communicate that we have just this moment decided to do something, and to make a prediction. For example, "Sorry I forgot to bring the money for you; I'll bring it tomorrow, I promise!" and "I can't remember what she looks like but I'm sure I'll recognize her when I see her".

38) What are two common uses of "to be going to"? Give me an example of each, please.

Two common uses of "to be going to" are to make a prediction using information we already have, and to communicate a future intention. For example, "Be careful; that wine glass is going to fall off the table!" and "I'm going to go to the cinema next Saturday".

39) When do we use the auxiliary verb "do" in a positive sentence with the present simple tense?

We use the auxiliary verb "do" in a positive sentence with the present simple tense when we want to be emphatic.

40) When do we usually use the emphatic "do"? Give me an example.

We usually use the emphatic "do" when we want to deny something that someone has said because we know it is not true. For example, if somebody says "You don't eat enough vegetables", I can reply "Yes I do eat enough vegetables!"

41) What is another use of the emphatic "do"? Give me an example.

Another use of the emphatic "do" is in an exclamation. For example, "I do hate noisy children".

42) How do we form the future perfect?

We form the future perfect with the verb "to have" and a past participle.

43) When do we use the future perfect? Give me an example.

We use the future perfect when we are thinking about time before and up to a point in the future. For example, "When you arrive at my house, I'll have cooked dinner".

44) Give me an example of direct speech.

Mr Brown said "I like warm weather".

45) Give me an example of indirect speech.

Mr Brown said that he liked warm weather.

46) What do we do with the tenses when we change direct speech into indirect speech? Give me an example.

When we change direct speech into indirect speech, we generally move the verb into the past. For example: The teacher said "The room is large". The teacher said that the room was large.

47) What do we do if a verb is already in the past?

If a verb is already in the past, it often remains unchanged, but sometimes we put it further into the past.

48) What do we do with the word "will" when we change direct speech into indirect speech? Give me an example.

When we change direct speech into indirect speech, we change the word "will" to "would". For example: She said that John would go to London next year.

49) What's the difference between the words "what" and "whatever"? Give me an example of "whatever".

The difference between the words "what" and "whatever" is that we use the word "what" in a limited sense, whereas we use the word "whatever" in a more unlimited sense. For example, "If I could buy whatever I wanted, I'd buy ...".

50) Tell me four common ways in which we can make a suggestion.

Four common ways in which we can make a suggestion are:
Shall we wait for him?
Let's wait for him.
How (or What) about waiting for him?
Why don't we wait for him?

51) How do we make the imperative in English? Give me some examples.

We make the imperative in English by using the infinitive without "to". For example, "Give me the book!"; "Do it now!"; "Have a nice day!"

52) How do we make a negative imperative? Give me some examples.

We make a negative imperative by putting the word "don't" before the infinitive. For example, "Don't give him the book!"; "Don't be late!"; "Don't forget to email me!"

53) How do we form the perfect continuous tenses? Give me an example.

We form the perfect continuous tenses by using the verb "have", the word "been", and the present participle of the main verb. For example, "I have been studying for two hours".

54) When do we use the present perfect continuous? Give me an example.

We use the present perfect continuous to say how long an action has been in progress so far. For example, "I have been living in this house for six months so far".

55) When do we use the past perfect continuous? Give me an example.

We use the past perfect continuous to communicate the duration of an action up to a particular point in the past. For example, "I had been living in this house for one month when I bought my new bed".

56) When do we use the future perfect continuous? Give me an example.

We use the future perfect continuous to communicate the duration of an action up to a particular point in the future. For example, "I will have been living in this house for eight months at the end of this year".

57) When do we use a tail question?

We use a tail question when we believe something is true, and we want somebody to confirm that we are right.

58) How do we form a tail question? Give me an example.

We form a tail question by repeating the first auxiliary verb from the main part of the sentence, and putting it in question form. For example, "He is going to go out tonight, isn't he?"

59) When there is no auxiliary verb in the main part of the sentence, which verb do we use in the tail question? Give me an example.

When there is no auxiliary verb in the main part of the sentence, we use "do" in the tail question. For example, "They come every Thursday, don't they?"

60) What does the structure "to have something done" communicate? Give me an example.

The structure "to have something done" communicates that we don't do the action ourselves, but that somebody else does it for us. For example, "I don't cut my hair myself; I have my hair cut by a hairdresser".

61) What's the most important difference between "tell" and "say"? Give me an example.

The most important difference between "tell" and "say" is that after "tell" we indicate the person we are speaking to, but after "say" we usually do not. For example: She told him that it was important. She said it was important.

62) After the verb "say", how is it possible to indicate the person we are speaking to?

After the verb "say", it is possible to indicate the person we are speaking to by using the word "to".

63) For direct speech, which verb do we normally use: "say" or "tell"? Give me an example.

For direct speech, we normally use the verb "say". For example: She said "I'm hungry".

64) What are the two basic types of auxiliary verb in English?

The two basic types of auxiliary verb in English are primary auxiliaries and modal auxiliaries.

65) What are the primary auxiliaries?

The primary auxiliaries are the verbs "be", "have" and "do".

66) When do we use the auxiliary "be"? Give me an example.

We use the auxiliary "be" to make the continuous tenses and the passive voice. For example, "I am speaking English now" and "This book was printed in England".

67) When do we use the auxiliary "have"? Give me an example.

We use the auxiliary "have" for the perfect tenses. For example, "He has gone to Scotland".

68) When do we use the auxiliary "do"? Give me an example.

We use the auxiliary "do" for the present simple and past simple. For example, "I don't speak Spanish" and "Did she eat the pasta?"

69) What are the ten common modals?

The ten common modals are "can", "could", "will", "would", "may", "might", "shall", should", "must" and "ought".

70) What do we put after a modal? Give me an example.

We put the infinitive without "to" after a modal. For example, "I must send this email today".

71) Which modal is the only exception to this rule? Give me an example.

"Ought" is the only exception to this rule. For example, "I ought to see a doctor".

72) Give me a sentence containing the words "by the time".

For example, "By the time she gets here, dinner will be ready".

73) What does "by the time" mean in that sentence?

"By the time" in that sentence means at some point between now and when she gets here.

74) What's the difference between the words "older" and "elder"?

The difference between the words "older" and "elder" is that we generally use the word "elder" when speaking about people in the same family, and we cannot say "elder than"

75) When do we double the final consonant of an adjective in forming its comparative and its superlative? Give me an example.

We double the final consonant of an adjective in forming its comparative and its superlative when it ends in a single consonant preceded by a single vowel. For example, "thin – thinner than – the thinnest".

76) What happens when an adjective ends in a consonant plus "y"? Give me an example.

When an adjective ends in a consonant plus "y", the "y" is changed to "i". For example, "lucky – luckier than – the luckiest".
