Welcome to the Callan Method

Learning English with the Callan™ Method is fast and effective!

The Callan Method is a teaching method created specifically to improve your English in an intensive atmosphere. The teacher is constantly asking questions, so you are hearing and using the language as much as possible. When you speak in the lesson, the teacher corrects your grammar and pronunciation mistakes, and you learn a lot from this correction.

The Callan Method teaches English vocabulary and grammar in a carefully programmed way, with systematic revision and reinforcement. In the lesson, there is a lot of speaking and listening practice, but there is also reading and writing so that you revise and consolidate what you have learned.

With the Callan Method, the teacher speaks quickly so that you learn to understand English when it is spoken at natural speed. This also means that everyone is concentrating hard all the time.

English in a quarter of the time

The Callan Method can teach English in a quarter of the time taken by any other method on the market. Instead of the usual 350 hours necessary to get the average student to the level of the Cambridge Preliminary English Test (PET), the Callan Method can take as little as 80 hours, and only 160 hours for the Cambridge First Certificate in English (FCE).

The method is suitable for students of all nationalities, and ages. It requires no equipment (not even a whiteboard) or other books, and can be used for classes at private schools, state schools and universities. It is also possible for students to use the books to practise with each other when they are not at school.

In addition to this, students can practise their English online using the interactive exercises, which are available to students who study at licensed schools. Ask your school for details.

The Callan Method in practice

A Callan Method English lesson is probably very different from lessons you have done in the past. You do not sit in silence, doing a reading comprehension test or a grammar exercise from a book. You do not have 'free conversation', where you only use the English you already feel comfortable with. Of course, activities like this can help you, but you can do them at home with a book, or in a coffee bar. In a Callan Method lesson, you are busy with important activities that you cannot do outside the classroom. You are listening to English all the time. You are speaking English a lot, and all your mistakes are corrected. You learn quickly because you are always surrounded by English. There is no silence and no time to get bored or lose your concentration. And it is also fun!

So, what exactly happens in a Callan Method lesson, and how does it work?

The teacher asks you questions

The Callan Method books are full of questions. Each question practises a word, an expression, or a piece of grammar. The teacher is standing, and asks the questions to the students one by one. You never know when the teacher will ask you, so you are always concentrating. When one student finishes answering one question, the teacher immediately starts to ask the next question.

The teacher speaks quickly

The teacher in a Callan Method lesson speaks quickly. This is because, in the real world, it is natural to speak quickly. If you want to understand normal English, you must practise listening to quick natural speech and become able to understand English without first translating into your language. This idea of not translating is at the centre of the Callan Method; this method helps you to start thinking in English.

Also, we do not want you to stop and think a lot about the grammar while you are speaking. We want you to speak as a reflex, instinctively. And do not worry about mistakes. You will, naturally, make a lot of mistakes in the lessons, but Callan Method teachers correct your mistakes, and you learn from the corrections. When you go home, of course it will help if you read your book, think about the grammar, study the vocabulary, and do all the things that language students do at home – but the lessons are times to practise your listening and speaking, with your books closed!

The teacher says every question twice, and helps you with the answer

In the lesson, the teacher speaks quickly, so we say the questions twice. This way, you have another chance to listen if you did not understand everything the first time.

The teacher then immediately says the beginning of the answer. This is to help you (and 'push' you) to start speaking immediately. So, for example:

Teacher: "Are there two chairs in this room? Are there two chairs in this room? No, there aren't ..."

Student (immediately): "No, there aren't two chairs in this room; there are twelve chairs in this room."

If the teacher does not 'push' you by giving you the beginning of the answer, you might start to think too much, and translate into your language.

The teacher will speak along with you all the time while you are saying your answer. So, if you forget a word or you are not sure what to say, you will always hear the next word or two from the teacher. You should repeat after the teacher, but immediately try again to continue with the answer yourself. You must always try to continue speaking, and only copy the teacher when you cannot continue alone. That way, you will become more confident and learn more quickly. Never simply wait for help from the teacher and then copy – you will not improve so quickly.

Long answers, with the same grammar as the question

We want you to practise your speaking as much as possible, so you always make complete sentences when you speak in the lesson, using the same grammatical structure as in the question. For example:

Teacher: "About how many pages are there in this book?"

Student: "There are about two hundred pages in that book."

In this way, you are not just answering a question; you are making full sentences with the vocabulary and the grammar that you need to learn.

Correction by imitation

With the Callan Method, the teacher corrects all your mistakes the moment you make them. The teacher corrects you by imitating (copying) your mistake and then saying the correct pronunciation/form of the word. For example, if you say "He come from Spain", the teacher quickly says "not come - comes". This correction by imitation helps you to hear the difference between your mistake and the proper English form. You should immediately repeat the correct word and continue with your sentence. You learn a lot from this correction of your mistakes, and constant correction results in fast progress.

Contracted forms

In the lesson, the teacher uses contractions (e.g. the teacher says "I don't" instead of "I do not"). This is because it is natural to use contractions in spoken English and you must learn to understand them. Also, if you want to sound natural when you speak, you must learn to use contractions.

Lesson structure

Every school is different, but a typical 50-minute Callan lesson will contain about 35 minutes of speaking, a 10-minute period for reading, and a 5-minute dictation. The reading practice and the dictation are often in the middle of the lesson.

In the reading part, you read and speak while the teacher helps you and corrects your mistakes. In the dictation, you practise your writing, but you are also listening to the teacher. So, a 50-minute Callan lesson is 50 minutes of spoken English with no silence!

No chatting

Although the Callan Method emphasises the importance of speaking practice, this does not mean chatting (free conversation). You learn English quickly with the Callan Method partly because the lessons are organised, efficient, fast and busy. There is no time wasted on chatting; this can be done before or after the lesson.

Chatting is not a good way to spend your time in an English lesson. First, only some of the students speak. Second, in a chat, people only use the English that they already know. Third, it is difficult for a teacher to correct mistakes during a conversation.

The Callan Method has none of these problems. All through the lesson, every student is listening and speaking, practising different vocabulary and structures, and learning from the correction of their mistakes. And nobody has time to get bored!

Repeat, repeat, repeat!

Systematic revision

In your native language, you sometimes read or hear a word that you do not already know. You usually need to read or hear this new word only once or twice in order to remember it and then use it yourself. However, when you are learning a foreign language, things are very different. You need to hear, see and use words and grammatical structures many times before you really know them properly. So your studies must involve a system of revision (repeating what you have studied before). This is absolutely essential. If there is no system of revision in your studies, you will forget what you have studied and will not be able to speak or understand better than before.

In every Callan Method lesson, of course you learn new English, practise it, and progress through your book. However, you also do a lot of revision so that you can really learn what you have studied. Your teacher can decide how much revision your class needs, but it will always be an important part of your studies.

Also, because there is a lot of revision, it is not important for you to understand everything the first time; it gets easier. The revision with Callan is automatic and systematic. Every day you do a lot of revision and then learn some new English.

Revision in reading and dictation too

The reading and dictation practice in the lessons is part of Callan's systematic revision as well. First, you learn a new word in the speaking part of the lesson; a few lessons later, you meet it again when you are reading; finally, the word appears in a dictation. This is all written into the Callan Method; it happens automatically.

Correcting your dictations

With the Callan Method, there is little or no homework to do, but it is very important that you correct your dictations. These are printed in your book and so you can easily correct them at home, on the bus, or wherever. It is important to do this because it helps you to learn the written forms of the words you have already studied in earlier lessons.

Your first lessons with the Callan Method

During your first lesson with the Callan Method, all of the questions and some of the vocabulary are new for you; you have not done any revision yet. For this reason, the teacher may not ask you many questions. You can sit and listen, and become more familiar with the method - the speed, the questions, the correction etc.

History of the Callan Method – Robin Callan

Robin Callan is the creator of the Callan Method. He owns the Callan School in London's Oxford Street. He also runs Callan Publishing Limited, which supplies Callan Method books to schools all over the world.

Robin Callan grew up in Ely, Cambridgeshire, England. In his early twenties, he went to Italy to teach English in Salerno. Although he enjoyed teaching, Robin thought that the way in which teachers were expected to teach their lessons was inefficient and boring. He became very interested in the mechanisms of language learning, and was sure that he could radically improve the way English was taught.

He remained in Italy and started to write his own books for teaching English. He used these in his own classes and, over the following ten years, gained an immense amount of practical experience and a reputation for teaching English quickly and effectively.

When he returned to England, he opened his school in Oxford Street. As the method became more and more popular with students, the school grew and moved to larger premises. Robin continued to write his Callan Method books, and today the method is used by schools all over the world.

Robin Callan has always been passionate about English literature, especially poetry. For this reason, he bought The Orchard Tea Garden in Grantchester, near Cambridge, which attracts thousands of tourists each year. Throughout the 20th century, it was a popular meeting place for many famous Cambridge University students and important figures from English literature, such as Rupert Brooke, Virginia Woolf and E.M. Forster. Today, it is also home to the Rupert Brooke Museum.

Mr Callan now lives in Grantchester, but still plays an active role in the management of the Callan School in London.

The Callan School in London's Oxford Street

The largest private school in London

The Callan School in Oxford Street is the largest private school in London teaching English as a foreign language. Depending on the time of year, the school employs between 60 and 100 teachers and has an average of 1600 students passing through its doors every day. This number rises to more than 2000 in the middle of summer, similar to a small university.

STAGE 10

LESSON 146

823 ## Modal auxiliaries for probability logical

In order to communicate our ideas about how probable we think something is, we often use words such as "sure", "probably" or "perhaps". However, another common way of communicating these ideas is by using modal auxiliary verbs such as "must", "might" etc. For example, instead of saying "Perhaps David is Australian", we can say "David might be Australian".

Tell me a common way of communicating our ideas about how probable we think something is, besides using words like "sure", "probably" or "perhaps"?

A common ..., besides ..., is by using modal auxiliary verbs

Give me an example, please.

I may buy some new clothes next weekend

The modal "must" can express the idea that we are sure something is true because it makes logical sense in a particular situation. For example, if somebody says "John has just run 30 kilometres", we can reply "He must be tired". This is similar to saying "Judging from what you've just told me, I'm sure he is tired".

Which modal can express the idea that we're sure something is true because it makes logical sense in a particular situation?

The modal "must" can ...

Give me an example, please.

Alison must have a lot of money because she owns houses in four different countries

The modals "should" and "ought to" can express the idea of "probably". For example, we can say "The train should arrive soon". This means the same as "I think the train will probably arrive soon".

824 Which modals can express the idea of "probably"?

The modals "should" and "ought to" can ...

Give me an example, please. They just said on TV that it ought to be nice and sunny tomorrow

The modals "may", "might" and "could" can express the idea of "perhaps". For example, if somebody asks us "Do you know where Sarah is?", we can answer "She could be in her office". This is similar to saying "Perhaps she's in her office".

Which modals can express the idea of "perhaps"? The modals "may", "might" and "could" can ...

Give me an example, please. Quick! If you run, you might catch that bus!

The modal "can't" expresses the idea that we are sure something is not true because it makes no logical sense in a particular situation. For example, if somebody says "This is Peter's jacket", we can say "No, it can't be Peter's jacket; it's too small".

Which modal expresses the idea that we're sure something is not true because it makes no logical sense in a particular situation? The modal "can't" expresses ...

Give me an example, please. Amy can't be in her flat. I've called there three times and nobody's answered.

When we use modals in this way, we put the word "have" and a past participle after the modal when we are talking about something that happened in the past. For example, "John ran 30 kilometres yesterday. He must have been very tired when he finished".

When we use modals in this way, what do we do when we're talking about something that happened in the past? When we use ..., we put the word "have" and a past participle after the modal when we're talking about ...

Give me an example, please. I can't find Kim anywhere. I think she may have gone home.

825 Now, I will give you a sentence, and you say a sentence with the same meaning, but with a modal:

She runs every day, so I'm sure she's fit. She runs every day, so she must be fit

Perhaps he knows the address of the party. He might (or may/could) know the address of the party

I'm certain that he isn't in his office because the lights are off. He can't be in his office because ...

I think the cake will probably taste very good. The cake should (or ought to) taste very good

I'm sure he studied hard for that exam because he got the highest possible grade. He must have studied hard for that exam because ...

They left home two hours ago so they've probably arrived by now. They left home two hours ago so they should have arrived by now

I don't believe she's gone home yet because her car's still here. She can't have gone home yet because her car's still here

I think perhaps I forgot to lock the door. I may (or might) have forgotten to lock the door

826 climate

Which country do you think has the best climate in the world? I think ... has the best ...

Why?

shade shadow projector

beam old-fashioned

What's the opposite of "to sit in the sun"? The opposite of "to sit in the sun" is "to sit in the shade"

When you buy jeans, what shade of blue do you tend to buy: a light shade or a dark shade? When I buy jeans, I tend ...

What am I pretending to do? You're pretending to shade your eyes from the sun

At the cinema, when someone passes in front of the projector and cuts the beam of light, what do we see appear on the screen? At the cinema, when ..., we see the shadow of the person's head appear on the screen

Can you see any shadows on the walls of this room? Yes, I can see ...

Where?

Do you like old-fashioned country houses where the ceilings are supported by big wooden beams? Yes, I like ...
~ No, I don't like ...

Would you like to live in a house like that? Yes, I'd like to ...
~ No, I wouldn't like to ...

827 cheer cheer up!

What do people do at a concert when the performance has been very good? People cheer at a concert when ...

What does it mean: "Cheer up! Things aren't as bad as they seem"?
"Cheer up! Things aren't as bad as they seem" means that we should try to feel happier, because the situation that is making us unhappy is not as serious as it appears to be direct channel English Channel curve course off course

current directly

Direct me to the nearest post office from here, please.
Go out of the building, turn ...

Do you think you'd be good at directing a large business?
Yes, I think I'd be ... ~ No, I don't think I'd be ...

When swimmers swim across the English Channel, do they swim in a direct line? No, when swimmers ..., they don't swim in ...; they swim in a curve

Why is this? Because if they tried to go in a direct line, they'd be carried off course by the strong current

828  Dictation 100

The boy whistled to himself/ as he cycled down the empty street./ The evil deed has been done/ and cannot be undone,/ so we should accept the fact/ and stop thinking about it./ Every now and again,/ I get my car checked/ by a professional/ so that I know it will run properly./ The girl sat on the steps/ cutting up the pink cloth/ into small pieces./ In the discussion that followed,/ Arthur lost his temper/ and began to quarrel violently./ My essay was criticized/ for not containing proper paragraphs.

 Do Revision Exercise 66

829 "Will" and "would" for habits typical

We usually use the word "will" to speak about the future, but we can also use it for a present habit, especially when we want to communicate that the habit is typical of a particular person. For example, we can say "Most people here finish work at about 6 p.m., but Frank will stay at the office until 11 p.m. most days". If we are speaking about a past habit, we use "would" instead. For example, "When I was at university, I would get up at 5 a.m. every day and go jogging".

Give me an example of the word "will" used for a present habit, please.
Sarah loves books, and will often spend the whole weekend reading

Give me an example of the word "would" used for a past habit, please.
As a child, I would ride my bicycle every day

When speaking about past habits, the difference between "would" and "used to" is that we can use "would" only to speak about behaviour, whereas we can use "used to" to speak about both behaviour and states. For example, we can say "Anna used to have long hair", but we cannot say "Anna would have long hair", because we are speaking about a state and not someone's behaviour.

When speaking about past habits, what's the difference between "would" and "used to"?
When speaking ..., the difference between "would" and "used to" is that ...

Make a sentence with the words "used to" that could not be made using the word "would" instead, please.
That building used to belong to my family

830 primary secondary

At what age does a child move from primary school to secondary school in this country?
A child moves ...

associate

What kind of food do you think people associate with your country?

I think people ...

Do you think it's a good idea to meet one's work associates socially?

Yes, I think ... ~ No, I don't think ...

Why or why not?

Because ...

fellow society

As a noun, the word "fellow" means the same as "man", but this is quite old-fashioned these days.

As a noun, what does the word "fellow" mean?

As a noun, the word "fellow" ...

As an adjective, the word "fellow" means "in a similar situation to you". For example, a fellow traveller, a fellow student, a fellow member of a society etc.

Do you ever talk to your fellow travellers when you're on a train?

Yes, I sometimes ... ~ No, I never ...

831

PC monitor mouse

keyboard printer click

What do we call the screen we look at when we're using a desktop PC?

We call ... a monitor

What's the advantage of having a wireless mouse, keyboard and printer for a PC?

The advantage ... is that they can be moved around more easily, and everything on one's desk looks tidier

On the internet, how many times do we have to click to follow a link?

On the internet, we only have to click once to follow a link spectator athletics medal

At an athletics competition, what do the spectators do when the winner of an event receives a medal?

At an athletics competition, the spectators cheer when ...

nest

What do we call the home a bird builds for itself?

We call the home ... a nest

take advantage of facility

When you stay at a hotel, do you usually take advantage of all the facilities?

Yes, when I stay ..., I usually ...
~ No, when I stay ..., I don't usually ...

832 If you felt that someone was trying to take advantage of you, would you say anything to them?

Yes, if I felt ..., I'd ...
~ No, if I felt ..., I wouldn't ...

rare

Name me a rare metal, please.

Gold is a rare metal

embarrass

Do you get embarrassed easily?

Yes, I get ... ~ No, I don't get ...

scared

Are you scared of big dogs?

Yes, I'm scared ... ~ No, I'm not scared ...

hire plumber

The words "hire" and "rent" are similar, and either word is often possible, but the word "hire" suggests a shorter period of time than "rent". For example, we hire a video camera to film a wedding, but we rent a house to live in. If we are speaking about people, we hire somebody to do a specific job. For example, if we have a problem with our central heating at home, we hire a plumber to fix it. However, if somebody works for us for a long time, we use the verb "employ". For example, a school employs teachers.

What's the difference between "hire" and "rent"? The difference ... is that the word "hire" suggests a shorter period of time than "rent"

833 If you have a problem with your central heating, who do you need to hire to fix it? If you have ..., you need to hire a plumber to fix it

huge

Give me an example of the word "huge", please. He lives in a huge house in the country. He now realizes that leaving his job was a huge mistake.

lonely

When people go and live in another country because of their job, do they sometimes feel lonely at first? Yes, when people ..., they ...

Do people always feel lonely when they're alone? No, people don't always ...

If you want to know the definition of a word, what kind of book do you look in? If I want ..., I look in a dictionary loads of

"Loads of" is an informal way of saying "a lot of".

If you had loads of money, do you think you'd be a more generous person? Yes, if I ..., I think ...
~ No, if I ..., I don't think ...

make the best of make the most of

"Make the best of" and "make the most of" have very similar meanings.

"Make the best of" means to try to be positive even though a situation is not very good. For example, if it rains every day on holiday, we have to make the best of it.

"Make the most of" means to get the maximum benefit from a situation while it is available. For example, if you go to London to learn English, you should make the most of your time there by speaking the language as often as possible.

Are people who try to make the best of unpleasant situations usually happier than people who don't? Yes, people who ...

Do you always make the most of your free time or do you sometimes waste your time? I always make ...
~ I don't always make ...; I sometimes waste ...

Dictation 101

I scarcely had the courage to move./ The cat followed its owner/ into the kitchen/ hoping for some food./ It was thus decided/ that the best plan/ would be to find/ some kind of natural harbour/ along the coast,/ perhaps protected by some high cliffs,/ and leave the boat there./ It was clear/ that both the nephew and niece/ worshipped their uncle./ War was declared/ and all foreigners were seized/ by the police./ The student's accommodation was very poor./ His room was furnished/ with just a bed,/ table and chair,/ and a shelf for his books./ The student himself was so poor/ that he scarcely had the money/ to buy the books he needed.

835 "By" and its many uses (continued)

by birth by heart poetry measurement

Here are some more examples of expressions that contain the word "by":

1) "They were walking by the river" means that they were walking next to the river.

2) "We cooked the meat by roasting it" means that we used the method of roasting in order to cook the meat.

3) "We'll have finished the job by this time tomorrow" means that we'll finish the job at some time before this time tomorrow.

4) "The workers get paid by the hour" means that the workers get paid a certain amount for each hour they work.

5) "His office is 6 metres by 4 metres" means that his office is 6 metres long and 4 metres wide.

6) "He is Chinese by birth" means that he was born in China.

7) "I know the English alphabet by heart" means that I can say the English alphabet from memory.

Are you sitting by the window? Yes, I'm ... ~ No, I'm not ...

Do you come to school by car? Yes, I come ... ~ No, I don't come ...

Had you gone to sleep by midnight last night? Yes, I'd gone ... ~ No, I hadn't gone ...

When one hires a lawyer, does one often have to pay by the hour?
Yes, when one ..., one often ...

836 Are the measurements of a double bed about 200 cm by 140 cm?

Yes, the measurements ...

What nationality are you by birth?

I'm ... by birth

Do you know any poetry by heart?

Yes, I know ...
~ No, I don't know ...

report reporter misbehaviour well done!

If your school report is (or was) good (or bad), what do (or did) your parents say?

If my school report ...,
my parents say (or said)
"Well done!" (or "You must try harder" etc.)

Were you ever reported to the head teacher of your primary school for misbehaviour?

Yes, I was reported ...
~ No, I was never reported ...

If you were a newspaper reporter, what kind of news would you like to write about?

If I were ..., I'd like to ...

If you bought a set of knives, forks and spoons, how many of each would you expect it to contain?

If I bought ...,
I'd expect ...

approve disapprove approval disapproval

Do you approve of people being allowed to smoke in public places?

Yes, I approve of ... ~ No,
I don't approve of ...; I disapprove

837 What are the nouns of the verbs "approve" and "disapprove"?

The nouns ... are
"approval" and "disapproval" track running track railway track print

How is a track made?

A track is made by people or animals constantly walking over the same piece of ground

What's a running track? A running track is a track used for races, which we find on a sports field or in an athletics stadium

What are railway tracks? Railway tracks are the lines on which trains run

How can we tell the difference between the tracks of a horse and those of a cow? We can tell the difference ... by the prints. The prints left by a horse are round like a horseshoe, whereas those of a cow are split down the middle

How do the police track a murderer? The police track a murderer mainly by searching for clues and asking people questions

recipe

What do we call the set of instructions that tells us how to cook a particular dish? We call ... a recipe

838 ## alike like each other

What can we say instead of "They are like each other"? We can say "They are alike" instead of "They are like each other"

What can we say instead of "My brother looks similar to me"? We can say "My brother and I look alike" instead of "My brother looks similar to me"

By tying a small written message to one of its legs and then allowing it to fly home

Adjective + infinitive with "to"

When an adjective is followed by an infinitive with "to", it often communicates our feelings or reactions to a particular event. For example, "I was surprised to hear the news" means that the news surprised me. The sentence "I'll be happy to help you" means that helping you will make me feel happy.

When an adjective is followed by an infinitive with "to", what does it often communicate?

When an adjective ..., it often communicates ...

Give me an example, please.

She was sad to say goodbye to her friends

Noun (or pronoun) + infinitive with "to"

When a noun (or pronoun) is followed by an infinitive with "to", it is similar to a relative clause. For example, "I have a lot of work to do" means the same as "I have a lot of work that I must do". The sentence "There is nothing in the fridge for us to eat" means "There is nothing in the fridge that we can eat".

840 Give me an example of a sentence with a noun (or pronoun) followed by an infinitive with "to", please.

We have loads of emails to write. I have nothing to do tomorrow.

Do Revision Exercise 67

841 ## It's time ...

If we use an infinitive after the expression "it's time" and say, for example, "It's time (for us) to eat", it means that now is the proper or correct time to eat; maybe we are at work and our lunch break starts now. However, if we use the past tense after "it's time" and say, for example, "It's time we ate", it means that we are a little late; maybe our lunch break will finish quite soon and we need to hurry. Notice that, although we are using the past tense, "ate", we are not speaking about the past; we are talking about a situation in the present.

What's the difference between "It's time for us to leave" and "It's time we left"?

The difference between "It's time for us to leave" and "It's time we left" is that "It's time for us to leave" means that now is the correct time to leave, whereas "It's time we left" means that we are a little late and maybe need to hurry

Give me another example of "it's time" followed by an infinitive, please.

866 ## Comparatives: big and small differences

As we know, comparative forms are used to communicate that there is a difference between two people or things. For example, when we say to somebody "John is taller than David", they understand there is a difference in height. However, they do not know how big the difference is. If we want to communicate this information, we need to put other words before the comparative.

To communicate that the difference is very big, we can put words such as "much", "far" or "a lot" before the comparative, and say, for example, "John is far taller than David". To communicate that the difference is very small, we can use words such as "slightly", "a little" or "a bit", and say, for example, "John is slightly taller than David".

When we're using a comparative form, how can we communicate that the difference between two people or things is very big?
